

Marianne Rozsahegyi
Principal

Ms. Rozsahegyi began as principal at SFXCS in 2016. A graduate of Rutgers University and Boston College, as well completing the Catholic School Leadership program from Creighton University, she comes to SFXCS with over 30 years experience in Catholic School education. She has taught theology, social justice, and music to both young people and adults as well as various theological topics to confirmation classes, RCIA candidates, the diaconate program in Salt Lake City and to parents.

Principal Rozsahegyi firmly believes that the next generation of problem solvers and peacemakers might well come from St. Francis Xavier. An advocate of Catholic education that includes technological skills, social justice and social emotional well being, Principal Rozsahegyi values the mission and formation that St. Francis Xavier Catholic School faculty and staff offer to their students.

Growing up on the east coast, married to a Utah native and watching 5 children grow up to young adults has kept life joyful and busy and solidifies how important these foundational elementary school years are.
